Metalithoid

Daniele Albright

DESCRIPTION

The title Metalithoid borrows the word lithoid, which means consisting of or resembling stone. The objective was to create natural rock type formations that appear liquid-like when rendered in polished bronze, combined with marble slabs, extraced from actual rock, that emphasize the solidity of rectilinar form. Massive but also jewel-like, the result has a strikingly opulent yet quiet, balanced zen type presence.

By special order Various marbles available, which can be custom-sized.
